The Little Desert & Mt. Arapiles

A painting retreat with

September 29 – October 4, 2006

The Little Desert & Mt. Arapiles

The Little Desert is home to the endangered Lowan, (Mallee Fowl) and hundreds of native flowering plants; including rare ground orchids, grass trees, banksias, grevilleas, heath and wattles; many of which will be flowering during our retreat.

Salt lakes, claypans, waterholes, sandy tracks, low desert vegetation and sand hills throughout the Little Desert National Park provide a variety of inspiring landscapes to paint and contemplate.

Nearby is Mt. Arapiles; Victoria's largest monolith and known internationally for its excellent rock climbing. The red rock looms majestically above the Wimmera's patchwork of gold, yellow and green canola and wheat-field crops. Across the road sits the smaller Mitre Rock above the often dry jewel-like white salt pan of Mitre Lake.

Where: The Little Desert Lodge is approximately 374 kilometres northwest of Melbourne. Nhill, 16 kms away is the nearest regional town. Mt. Arapiles is a 30 minute drive south of the Lodge.

When: Sept. 29 – Oct 4, 2006

Arrive during the afternoon of Friday Sep 29. Meet Jenni and the group over dinner. Leave after breakfast Wednesday Oct. 4.

Tuition: Jenni will give regular demonstrations throughout the program using a variety of mediums, including: oil, acrylic, gouache, watercolour and pastel.

Each day will begin with a demonstration followed by individual tuition until 3.00pm. After this time you are free to continue work at our location, explore the region or take a restful siesta.

Evening discussions and visual talks will be held after dinner.

Suitable for: The workshop retreat is suitable for artists at all levels of experience, including beginners. The focus of the workshops is to understand how to 'see' the landscape in colour, shape and tone and interpret the found elements using various mediums onto a two dimensional plane.

Non-painting persons attending the retreat will find an array of activities available including bush-walking, bird-watching, time to relax and photography.

Accommodation: Comfortable twin share en-suite rooms. Single room tariff is available.

Meals: Excellent home-cooked style meals include a cooked breakfast, a packed lunch for day trips and a hot evening meal.

Special dietary needs can be catered.

The bar is open in the evenings.
